

Workshop on East European Politics

Chair of Politics

Institute for East European Studies

22-23 July 2024

Venue: Garystraße 55, Hörsaal B

22 July
13.00-14.00	Keynote: Peter Rutland	Realism vs. constructivism in explaining the Ukraine war
14.15-14.55	Federico Salvati	Autocratic normative language
14.55-15.35	Guzel Yusupova	Comparing the promotion of ethnic equality in the context of democratization and authoritarianism in Russia
15.50-16.30	Rebecca Kittel	Keep it simple, stupid! The determinants of language complexity in politicians' parliamentary and online communication
16.30-17.10	Anna Abalkina	Regional patterns explaining scientific misconduct: a case from Russia
17.25-18.05	Vlad Siiutkin	"We have to live somehow": Ethnography of Russian regions in the war time (Autumn 2023)
18.05-18.45	Alexandra Orlova	Sanctions and political attitudes
19.30	Dinner
23 July
09.00-09.40	Xiaojuan Grace Yang	Unpacking the China-US cyber norm contestation through WIC
09.40-10.20	Martha Stolze	Traditional values as a gateway for Russian information influence in Germany: An analysis of gender-specific frames on RT Deutsch
10.35-11.05	Ming Ma	Authoritarian narratives and enhanced persuasion: Evidence from China
11.05-11.45	Guram Kvaratskhelia	Dynamics of authoritarian repression in comparative perspective
13.00-13.40	Zuleykha Mailzada	Transmitting the romanticist revolutionary narrative in the Soviet management of infectious diseases (1960s-1980s)
13.40-14.20	Vladimir Kozlov	Propaganda among students in Russia. Is there any effect?

14.35-15.35	Viktor Rudakov	Student employment across Europe and subsequent labour market outcomes
		The impact of international sanctions on educational and research outcomes in sanctioned countries
15.35-16.15	Alexander Libman	Sycophants, excessive loyalism, and Putin's regime